

The Drowned And The Saved

Heaven Shall Burn

Tell me what is left from life, if no sunrise lights your world
?
Can't believe you've been through all this pain
All this pain I know your eyes saw the same sky as I see today
You smelled the leaves, you felt the wind
I know they imprisoned your body, but how could they subdue your thoughts?
I know about the drowned and the saved
Where will be my side
Whose decision marks my path
Will i ever know the end I die again
Now I'm one of you
No dream, that keeps me alive, no warmth reaches my skin
Their methods broke into my brain
Took away my existence and even my name, reduced me to numbers
When will this killingmachine breaking my spine?
I know millions walk in and just a few will leave it behind
I've got no more power, I've got no more power
Hope dies together with feelings, it doesn't hurt anymore I know I'm one of the drowned