

Begging for Forgiveness

Helker

They left you alone
Even your allies
No trust in your honor any more

You abuse your power
And you used all the others
But your tyranny will fall today

I can see you beg, for the peace you had forgotten
Because you are alone, beg for mercy from us all
I can see you beg, because you are not the keeper
For you to unchain your dark and wicked soul

You know how to cheat
You know how to lie
You can justify all the things you do

You like to be cold
You like to be mean
You can justify, all the evil that you do

I can see you beg, for the peace you had forgotten
Because you are alone, beg for mercy from us all
I can see you beg, because you are not the keeper
For you to unchain your dark and wicked soul

When all your aims, you can finally achieve
You don't worry about the many heads
You have been cutting off
But be very careful when you pick up your big fish
Because your prey can always catch you
And become your hangman, become your hangman

I can see you beg, for the peace you had forgotten
Because you are alone, beg for mercy from us all
I can see you beg, because you are not the keeper
