

Still Alive

Helker

Now you are destroyed
In an awful pain
You won't find the way to improve yourself
Bitter tears that will betray you
Because your soul can not stop the flowing blood

If your pain does not become your bitter end
You'll survive and a stronger man you will become

Feeling the pain is the clear sign
You're still alive, you can go on and fight

Like a zombie, you can't find the way
Like an inmate, lying in a dark unholy cell

Feeling the pain is the clear sign
You're still alive, you can go on and fight
Every time that the sun went down
Sooner or later it again came out

Like a zombie, you can't find the way
Like an inmate, lying in a dark unholy cell

If your pain does not become your bitter end
You'll survive and a stronger man you will become

Feeling the pain is the clear sign
You're still alive, you can go on and fight
Every time that the sun went down
Sooner or later it again came out