When will the hand of god choke the life from this world of fools eradicate the masses crushed under the weight of failure await the deathblow ripped from your praying hands a faith transparent liberate us decimate us our fear blinds us to the ones who enslave us our world dies corruption stands us idle all our lives devoid of meaning endless searching silent screaming for our rotting souls there is no hope lower my broken body down an unmarked grave

unwanted mourning i'll keep my death all for myself save all your tears for drowning

await the deathblow ripped from your praying hands a faith transparent liberate us decimate us

all our lives devoid of meaning endless searching silent screaming
for our rotting souls
there is no hope

you
force us down bind our wrists
crush our dreams your hopeless god is dying let the fires rise wash our hands with burning temples spill your lungs to empty skies with baited breath weep prayers unanswered fear the collective silence sever us from times division i tread a million miles nothing stole the hate from my eyes conceived just to die the blinding faith in your eyes your fear your lies you feel that you'll die a stitch in time no one to save you.