

Saturday Nights

Hello Saferide

Somebody ordered too many drinks last night
Somebody reckoned dancing on the bar's all right
Somebody woke up next to someone else, thinking
Some people thought about killing off themselves

Oh, Lord! Forgive me them Saturday nights
They'll make you do things you'll regret for the rest of your l ife
And Lord! Forbid them glimmering Saturday lights
And tell me I am not me on Saturday nights

Who was that girl who shouted "This one's on me!"?
Who was that girl who dropped her drink on a celebrity?
Who was that girl who fell asleep under a tree, singing
Who was that girl, I know for sure it wasn't me

Oh, Lord! Forgive me them Saturday nights
They'll make you do things you'll regret for the rest of your l ife
And Lord! Forbid them glimmering Saturday lights
And tell me I am not me on Saturday nights

On Saturday nights, on Saturday nights
On Saturday nights

Somebody promised she would stay in the next week Somebody dropped out of the house just to take a peak and Somebody reckoned well just one drink that'll do Somebody's evil twin said: well, let's make it two

Oh, Lord! Forgive me them Saturday nights
They'll make you do things you'll regret for the rest of your l ife
And Lord! Forbid them glimmering Saturday lights
And tell me I am not me on Saturday nights
