

And Everything Becomes a Blur

Hellogoodbye

Of all the friends you made along the way
Every single one will pass away
And everything they are, never were
And somehow all of it become a blur

All the friends you made along the way
Every single one is here to stay
Everything we've done gets to you
And somehow some of it returns to you

You floated by like waves of light
I saw you there in flats and tights
I didn't know you move that fast
No one ever did
Nobody every did
Nobody every did

All we feel disintegrates
Just keep your feet into the lake

Oh what a pretty tragedy
To be alive is anything I really want to be all the time
Cause everything you are is so much more
Than anything you were an hour before

You floated by like waves of light
I saw you there in flats and tights
I didn't know you move that fast
No one ever did
But nobody every did
But nobody every did
No

All we feel disintegrates
Just keep your feet into the lake
If all we feel disintegrates
Don't dig your heels into the pavement

All the friends you made along the way
Every single one is here to stay