

When We First Kissed

Hellogoodbye

I wandered in
Hearing your conversation
You sounded bored

But what would I say then
I shouldn't have come in
Words sat on the pavement
Oh what are you waiting for?

I ought to be
So prepared
But it got to me
I was so scared

What was I thinking?
It started to sink in
It wasn't what we did
I started to see it more

'Til I
Walked you to your car
That night down the street of Valentine
Your heart was right
We were cold and waiting in the front seat of your Rav
I knew someday I'd have to ask if you would

I never knew how
To say how it went down (And who got left out)
But somehow it turned out (The way it is now)
And you somehow knew it would
