

Remnants Of War

Helstar

Black horizons are wide and vast
The winds of war blow cold
Minutes of life so quickly flash
Nothings left to be told
From the sky a star will fall
The seas will turn to dust
No king or ruler shall stand tall
Now who will you trust

Oh now where can you run
What more can you do
The shadows of death
Are closing in on you

The end has now just begun
Look for the rising sun
Seek the holy one

As the final curtain falls your heart is split with pain
You wonder how long before he's going to reign

The thunder roar
The ruins fall
Only desert land remains
A living hell the earth transformed
But will you go insane?

Remnants of war