

Bonnie & Clyde (the Revolution)

Her Bright Skies

We let our lives fade behind us
Walked away from all we knew.
Quit our 9 to 5s for road signs
Learned to love in hotel rooms.

We'll just take all that we need,
We'll break the mold just you and me.

From the bottom of my heart,
To the top of my voice.
Let the spark in your eyes
Set the whole world on fire.
Lets start a revolution.

When the light wakes you up,
And you feel the warmth across you skin
You know there's a chance for those who doubted
That we're meant for bigger things

And tonight I carry you home,
To a place we call our own.
There's a riot in the streets.

From the bottom of my heart,
To the top of my voice,
Let the spark in your eyes
Set the whole world on fire.
Lets start a revolution.

Start fires in every town we hit,
Start fires every time we kiss,
Start fires, start fires.
Start fires in every town we hit,
Start fires every time we kiss,
Start fires, start fires.

From the bottom of my heart,
To the top of my voice.
Let the spark in you eyes
Set the whole world on fire.
Lets start a revolution.
From the bottom of my heart,
To the top of my voice.
Let the spark in your eyes
Set the whole world on fire.
Lets start a revolution.

Let the spark in your eyes
Set the whole world on fire.
