

We were young, just twenty-one this is where our lives begun now you've left me wondering and asking for more

you're just one of those girls that'll keep me up all night now what am i supposed to do when everything feels so right?
and i'm in love with you let's see this through i swear to god this ship is sinking

I know
i shouldn't have counted on you i'm caught can't seem to shake you off

They should have never said "i told you so"
and i cannot hate you i'm not sure i want to
they should have never said "i told you so"
now i can't forget you i don't even want to

The memories i keep inside they all fade away somehow i'm dreaming of the good old times when i could feel safe and sound i will make you bend and break i will be your greatest mistake you gotta stop and ask yourself is this what you wished for?

(please let me know)
I'm done pretending
(go on)
deserving of the truth (go on)
i'm done pretending
(go on)
i'll drag it out of you