

Some Live Their Lives

Her Bright Skies

All hope dead, just one last touch this nightmare finally came true we're too young to be alone as you sucked the life from this world

How about spending new years in a hospital bed and just a single smile would take me miles away put out the lights there's nothing more to see (emergency!)
we sit around for hours (emergency!)
waiting impatiently

They say you're sleeping that you'll be waking up soon but it's all too clear to me and this time I won't hold my breath and I'm not holding my breath

You lie when you whisper you whisper when you lie liar

Waiting and waiting this is killing me too I can see the fireworks and I just want to tear them down