

I Want More

Herbert Grönemeyer

Like a stone I drop through the breaking storm up through the star-filled sky I soar still more, I want more left out in the cold and in fever's grip then your warmth returns, it's the strangest trip I want more, still more

I'm enraptured and bathed in blinding light thunder rolls under the covers tonight come here, I want more

In the pillows I'm smothered, a crime of lust now i'm reborn by your love, and I must have more, still more

At the limit, my heartbeat a pounding drum I'm lost in the fog, then the clear light comes
I want more

Utterly peaceful in your hand fires extinguished, then flames again come here, i want more, throw me off the rails

Show me the way
however far
shoot me over the zenith miraculous
do what you must don't spare me
don't hold back anything
I never will be cured
I want still more
more cannot be enough

Seas are rising, moon blood-red volcanoes erupt on the ocean bed

Gyroscopes spinning behind my eyes feel like I'm weightless, far beyond space and time

I'm struck by lightning, heart attack your kiss of life will bring me back come here, i want more, clear through paradise

do what you must
don't spare me

Stay here, don't go away I need so much more from you nurse me in sickness and in health you can stand me on the burning bridge

It's head on love, leave me no way out take me far beyond the edge deliver me, I yearn so much I'm exploding with my feelings now...
