

Human Soul

Herrschaft

I was born in a world n' my all life was programmed
Where everything's intended to become something high
Never knew defeat, neither fury, nor hatred
N' my existence was driving by my will

Even my own fate's already something clear
Even my own dreams're already something drew
Progressed in a world - everything was coded

I only knew the limits fixed by what I learned
Only knew the limits fixed by what I learned

When I look around I see people driven by Something so powerful (that) they never question why
They're all walking on in the same direction
Toward an ideal symbol of purity
My civilization is becoming something Great
N'my society's becoming like a kingdom
Now there's no place to bad feelings and pain
But only for wisdom governing human souls

Human souls!

They only know the limits fixed by what they learned
You only know the limits fixed by what you learned