

Drawing A Blank

Hey Violet

Break it apart just tear it down
The world is lost no solid ground
Gave you a chance now I'm empty
Strangle my life nothing left of me

You, you're always choosing sides
But I'm just choosing you
Crying tears I've cried

But now I'm drawing a blank
Nothing that you say, nothing that you do
Makes any sense, any sense anyway
Cause I thought that I knew what I wanted from you
But now I'm drawing a blank

Change all the facts, zero me out
Buried in your wreckage, fallen down
If I had a chance to understand how to get through, give it up again

You, you always choosing sides
Now the side is choosing you
Crying tears I've cried

But now I'm drawing a blank
Nothing that you say, nothing that you do
Makes any sense, any sense anyway
Cause I thought that I knew what I wanted from you
But now I'm drawing a blank

What would keep you warm at night?
What would change your dark to light?
Take what's broken make it right
Make me believe it's worth the fight
It's worth the fight

But now I'm drawing a blank
Nothing that you say, nothing you do
Makes any sense, any sense anyway
Cause I thought that I knew what I wanted from you
What are you trying to prove?
Cause now I'm drawing a blank