

Sooner If You Let Me

His Statue Falls

Realize and just let go
It will never be the same
(another apron of tears and pain
That shows how far we made it
Nowhere till now)

In the end you'll see sooner or later
That every step we took together
Was a possibility

Higher, deeper look through my eyes
See what fear denies

Sooner if you let me
Later if we try
But never say
That it's my fault alone
'Cause everyday was different and so were we
Lean back and take a deep breath because

All these days you've made truth so wonderful
Faithful words
But that fading smile of yours so sorrowful

Lean back and take a deep breath because

Because you know why
We're standing here
In front of all that mess
That just won't disappear
Stop pretending stop telling lies
(realize and just let go it will never be the same)

Don't blame me don't blame me

Stop pretending stop telling lies
Stop pretending cause you know why

Sooner if you let me
Later if we try
But never say
That it's my fault alone
Cause everyday was different and so were we
Lean back and take a deep breath because

Don't blame me don't blame me

All these days you've made truth so wonderful
Faithful words
But that fading smile of yours so sorrowful
Lean back and take a deep breath because

Stop pretending stop telling lies
Stop pretending cause you know why!