

Not Human

Hocico

So you feel now all the pain
It's only impressions of decay

You go deep with the ghosts
And they teach you how to breathe

You see now what you did
You're not human after all

You saw your god and you smiled
You saw him crying as a child
As in your dream

Just go backwards, just don't try to feign

Pieces of what I was I start to drink the rain
That runs from my face,
I try to escape from my own bad dreams
But a voice tells me, hey! You're not human Violence is what you want so come and break my face
As you always wished
So come and break my face
I will never laugh again, that's all

I'm not human