

Honey

Hole

Anguish and misery fall here like a dead star
And everything you ever said
Now tears me all apart

He goes down, down to his bitter end
He knows now, now it's the gutter
He goes down, down to his bitter end
He knows now, now you can't touch him

Pray for the rain
Oh, are you up there
Do you listen
It's the terror and the pain and I
Just wait for you to have risen

He goes down, down to his only friend
He knows now, now that you love him
He goes down, down to his bitter end
He knows now, now you can't touch him

I hold on to you like the death of an angel
And I hold on to you with all the life that's in me

Why was I not good enough to save you from destruction?
And your end and my beginning
Oh, they need no introduction

He goes down, down to his only friend
He knows now, now that you love him
He goes down, down to his bitter end
He knows now, now you can't touch him

Sweet as honey
I'll live forever

Pure as first love
Just come home

I hold on to you like the death of an angel
And I hold on to you with all the life that's in me

And I hold on to you like the death of an angel
And I hold on to you with all the hope I have left

And I hold on to you
Watch the death of an angel
And I hold on to you
Until the light pours like honey