

Signs That Will Never Change

The Hollies

Leaves come falling on a winter's day.
Robins weep and watch them sail away.
Floating on the water is autumns last farewell.
These are signs that will never change,
Signs that will never change.

Rivers once were frozen now they're free
Showing winter's going rapidly.
Tadpoles turning into frogs in winter's last farewell.
These are signs that will never change,
Signs that will never change.

The changing faces of the seasons
Are those that cannot be compared
Except in love it sometimes happens
Love grows but all too soon it dies.

Tadpoles turning into frogs in winter's last farewell.
These are signs that will never change,
Signs that will never change.
Signs that will never change
