

Man On The Mountaintop

Holly Brook

There's a man on the mountaintop
And he's shooting up all the stars
Went away to mend his broken heart
But he didn't get very far

There's a man on the mountaintop
And he's staring out into space
It's so hard to connect the dots
When they don't stay in one place
And all the fireworks we watched have flashed and gone

There's a man on the mountaintop
And he's drinking down the milky way
No matter when the winter stops
It will snow on him all day
And all he wanted was for love to last as long

There's a man on the mountaintop
Seems a lonely place to dream
Somewhere out there in the endless dark
There is something he can see
But, it's not me
No, it's not me
