

Sleep Of Virtue

Holy Grail

If you had worth to hold it fell somewhere along your life
Slipped out untold Another overthrow, good riddance - tear 'em out of strife
No friends or foes

And in the darkest places you'll still be shutting out
the light
But now we're calling for you, your time has come

You will burn for your crimes
You'll learn to see through our eyes
You will hurt, you will cry
You'll learn to see through our eyes
Never cheat away, never steal away the light
When you cross the divide you'll learn to see through our eyes

You'll never need to know what's before you out of sight
Yet you uphold

And in the darkest places you'll still be shutting out
the light
But now we're calling for you, your time has come

You will burn for your crimes
You'll learn to see through our eyes
You will hurt, you will cry
You'll learn to see through our eyes
Never cheat away, never steal away the light

And soon the brightness fades, you slip away and close your eyes
Although you're filled with hate, accept the blame, no place to hide
You passed the final stage, you're losing hope, your mouth is dry It's time to face your fate, the dreams you made will never reach the other side

You will burn
You'll learn to see through our eyes
When you cross
You'll learn to see through our eyes
Never cheat away... never steal away the light
Never steal away the light
