

Take It To The Grave

Holy Grail

Slipping from conscious thought below the night Silhouettes of karma spit fire in your eyes Strike out in the dark, it all comes to light Seeds you've sown that haunt you from the oath you tried to hide

Come on your cover's blown
It's never gonna let you go
Caught by the undertow
You said I'd never fight alone

Let's refresh the vision, the vow we held as truth When bloody fists have fallen is when the fight is through Face the once decision, to die or carry on It's hard to think that nightfall is darkest before dawn

Come on your cover's blown
It's never gonna let you go
Caught by the undertow
You said I'd never fight alone

Drops of rain won't chisel stone with single acts of violence
Keep raining, erode
Shards of pain won't sear the soul when words are bound to silence
Keep raining, erode

Feel the candle burning, scorching from both sides Impervious to dying, this torch will be held high Give it up, leave your soul to rot, or see it through to the end
Break the oath, it's breaking you
You can't reach the top without expecting to fall

Drops of rain won't chisel stone with single acts of
violence
Keep raining, erode
Shards of pain won't sear the soul when words are bound
to silence
Keep raining, erode

We've seen it all, we've heard it all a hundred times
I've seen it all, but never saw the change in mind

Drops of rain won't chisel stone with single acts of
violence
Keep raining, erode
Shards of pain won't sear the soul when words are bound
to silence
Keep raining, erode