Slow Down

Hoobastank

Sometimes I forget to breathe Life can be overwhelming Always pushing and pulling on me Away from what really matters And I keep forgetting to remind myself I keep forgetting to remind myself I keep forgetting to remind myself Slow down No one ever said this journey was a race What's the hurry? Slow down I'll go anywhere I want at my own pace Without a worry I've gotta slow down It's never easy letting go When the feeling is so familar Of always being in control Maybe it's an illusion Slow down No one ever said this journey was a race What's the hurry? Slow down I'll go anywhere I want at my own pace Without a worry Slow Down Let go now Slow Down Slow Down Let go now Slow Down I hope that it's not too late 'Cause everything's all a blur On and on On and on I hope that it's not too late 'Cause everything's all a blur On and on On and on I keep forgetting to remind myself