

We're the only ones left I guess the strongest will never fall
Each day moving on straight one day we'll reach our final goal It's time for us to wise up take each other in open arms strength through diversity together we'll never fall
I know our lives are different in many ways
we've come to accept each other through diversity
So let's drop our fronts, lose our insecurities
it's time for us to come together in unity
fk your politics your part of diving dfad when your scene while you still can I know our lives are different in many ways
we've come to accept each other through diversity
So let's drop our fronts, lose our insecurities
Now... unity is what we need one strength through diversity Standing together with open arms for a better scene... together with pride
