

True

Hoods

Something head to give it was you or me questioned your heart y ou questioned me

I will never turned my back this is how it must be no hard fee lings no memories lost

We'll always be family but the struggle must go on this isn't no game but

The voice of the true

It bleeds through me what happed to you the fight was hard we were almost there

But you didn't fucking care true colors always shine through d edication we needed you

Your dedication was shit we never needed you so question yours elf are you true

So question yourself are you fucking true