

Twenty-Five Hours a Day

The Hooters

Well it hit me hard was just the other day
Had some trouble sleeping something wasn't right
I was out of body I was out of mind
Like when you love somebody more than all the time

So come on baby you know I'm begging you to stay
You know I need your lovin' twenty-five hours a day...

It's like my life was crashing to a big black hole
Like my world was spinning out of my control
Then a voice inside said better get in synch
Better make your move it's later than you think

Believe me baby I know it absurd to say
I live and breath your lovin' Twenty-five hours a day
Twenty-five hours a day...

And when the spirit moves you,
You'll come shining through
And there won't be nothing,
Nothing we can't do
Twenty-five hours a day...

Believe me baby whatever else may come my way
I'm gonna need your lovin' Twenty-five hours a day
Twenty-five hours a day...