

Half a Day Ahead

Hootie & The Blowfish

I feel the daylight slipping
The summer sunshine winding down
I feel the warmth escaping another time, another town
I was redirected
Radio silence tuned me in
I felt more connected than anywhere I've ever been

Half a day ahead
Where night and day collide
Nothing changes between sunset and sunrise
Side by side, we watch our future come alive
Half a day ahead

City full of water
Islands drift into the skies
The reflected skyline, everlasting old and wise
I'm thankful for my sisters, oh, my brothers take me in Slow me down a little, sing open up your heart and win

Half a day ahead
Yeah, where night and day collide
Nothing changes between sunset and sunrise
Side by side, we watch our future come alive
Half a day ahead

Half a day ahead
Where night and day collide
Nothing changes between sunset and sunrise
Side by side, we watch our future come alive
Half a day ahead