

Green

Hooverphonic

Sometime ago we broke up for no reason I know
Why do I have this feeling you're still in control
I'm confused like I'm used to whenever I'm in trouble again
But this time I have to grow up and learn to decide

The grass is greener on your side
It was always greener on your side
It will always be greener on your side

I'm way too nervous to be patient right now
Why do I have this feeling I'm not in control
The price that I pay for in my almost obsessive devotion you see
Is much higher than I would ever expect it to be

The grass is greener on your side
It was always greener on your side
It will always be greener on your side

It will always be greener on your side X5

The grass is greener on your side
It was always greener on your side
It will always be greener on your side