Hopes Die Last

Time has come
There's something I should tell you with these words
That I don't come to fall
Tryin to be the rose among the thorns

Tell me
Are we awake or sleeping?
Do you know what we're meant to be?
Is there a single reason
Why we're breathing?

Tell me what you see in the river
Behind the mirror you decide to live in
A hand comes out to hold you up
The same hand you try to hide

Am I accepting oblivion?
The dark side of myself?
What is this light that guides me?
To be the rose among the thorns

Time has come
There's something I should tell you with these words
That I don't come to fall
Tryin to be the rose among the thorns

Tell me
What you are aiming for?
Tell me how grateful would be your soul
If with your eyes you see things fall

(Have you ever)
Stopped floating in my consciousness?
Come and wake me up
My black heart is turning red
And I'm drowning in freezing water
Not realising what cold is
Cause my heart has turned to red

Take me over
Have you ever tried to stop them?
The time is up
So take me over

Take me over
Where everything is clearer
Where the lights are brighter
Than what my eyes can see

Take me over
Take me over
Take me there
Where my eyes can't see

Time has come
There's something I should tell you with these words
That I don't come to fall

Tryin to be the rose among the thorns

Now wake me up
