Lastnight's Goodbye

Hopes Die Last

Open arms to reach my hands I'm afraid I realized I'm afraid you're gonna leave this place

Another way to feel again and again What gave sense to this what gave sense to my life This is the last time for a sight It's the night that ends all nights I want to be the last frame in your eyes

Trying everyday to break the line That holds me tied Strictly to the ground

And all my convictions fade away What I'm holding on my chest It's your disappearing hand And now I'm giving you my last kiss The last time I feel your breath

Tell me this isn't happening to me Now it's up to you to find a way out of here So I became a stranger for you And even to myself Now I can't smile no more Because it seems to be the end

Trying everyday to break the line That holds me tied Strictly to the ground

And all my convictions fade away What I'm holding on my chest It's your disappearing hand And now I'm giving you my last kiss The last time I feel your breath

It was never my dream To be with you No never been my dream It's meant to be

And now I'm here between heaven and ice But words are not friends of mine So all I've got to say is goodbye