

Cubic Zirconias Are Forever

Hopesfall

Patience never our foreplay dizzy people floating in the same flood lights that we'll be sinking in if the stars in the sky are diamonds promised to the ocean floor we'll fake first and leave a reflection of what they're searching for there are cities we have not found with underwater caveman minds and suddenly we're curious for we found the secrets to a black diamond left in the sea a prism with a hopeless color scheme and we are one step... . .

if we're (when they're) out tonight we'll leave the lights alone cause if they're out tonight they'll leave their lights low (let's go!) Let us go before we're doomed take care take it to the ocean floor let us go let us search beneath the blue we are one step close to never known
