Hot Water Music

Dark skies settle down,
Move back and fade away.
Oh. Baby take my hand,
Take me to a yesterday.
I see a little girl
Running in an open park,
Tears driven down her face by shame
That crushes her heart

Day after day & step after step,
She tries to run away just to forget.
She's on a tightrope
That just won't ever give,
My hands on her sweet face,
I'm never to forget

I'm never to forget
I'm never to forget the moment
When my skin touched yours
I tremble inside you
But not like before

I can't get much closer to you now
I can't get much closer to you now
You take what's inside me

Day after day & step after step,
She tries to run away just to forget.
She's on a tightrope
That just won't ever give,
My hands on her sweet face,
I'm never to forget

I'm never to forget
I'm never to forget the moment
When my skin touched yours
I tremble inside you
But not like before

I can't get much closer to you now
You take what's inside me
I can't get much closer to you now
You take what's inside me
