

Where We Belong

Hot Water Music

slid back and watched the year turn sat still walked through what i learned jerked tears then grinned to cheeks and yearned for what had been lost and what had been found tables turn when knocked down let's stand them upright and follow our sights to where we belong

can't think of turning back clocks can't run for what has been lost and we can't sulk in what once drowned us cause we will drown again and cease to win the constant battles that we wake up with now stronger and warned we should live without scorn and renew what we can no year could cut us like that one and we don't sit and drown in wonder time passed we failed we crashed but who's to say we can't start over start now start right stay strong stay tight and we can live side by side
