

Julia. freedom comes and it waits for no one.
Julia. for this night you were born.
Live your life.
Inside you your deepest passions move.

They tell you "all the time you walked you walked away
The truth was at your fingertips."
Say it now or say it never.
All your senses sing together.

Julia, we're hoping for you.
May all good things adorn you.
Every star is in its place.
They pour forth speech and

Whisper graces, julia.
Every night when the sun dies you can feel it.
You're so separated.
Songs of love sung from on high.

You can hear them
If you concentrated on the time you walked away from love.