

Another Day From Heaven

House of Lords

She's a warrior on a mission
And it's hard to find the patience
To be free at last
She believes with all her passion
He will comfort her
He will come for her glory!

Heaven knows she's been waiting
Heaven knows every day of faith
She tries to pray the pain away

Every day another suicide raid
Every day's another love charade
Every day's another day away from heaven

Every day another shade of grey
Every day another soul astray
Every day's another day away
So far away from heaven

She's a rock that you can lean on
When the times are tough - the odds are rough she's not afraid
she can feel him in the thunder
But he will comfort her
he will come for her glory!

Heaven knows she's been breaking
Heaven knows every day of faith
She tries to pray the pain away

Every day another suicide raid
Every day's another love charade
Every day's another day away from heaven

Every day another shade of grey
Every day another soul astray
Every day's another day away
Another day from heaven!

There must be a way (there must be a way)
Heaven knows every day of faith
She tries to pray the pain away

Every day another suicide raid
Every day's another love charade
Every day's another day away from heaven

Every day another shade of grey
Every day another soul astray
Every day's another day away from heaven

Every day's another day away from heaven

Every day's another day away
Another day from heaven
That's where she wants to be...

She wants to be in heaven...