How to Dress Well

When I want to understand When I can't understand -I look to you: And know that what I'm waiting for Won't know me Won't have a face I listen - you're breathing -That's all that it takes I'm gone - now you're ready You're not going to understand that I can't understand -I won't look to you And won't ask you To remember: the pain Was so raging, so great That sometimes we laughed just to Keep us awake I'm gone - now you're ready What altar could we possibly heal upon? Nothing left to desecrate Just let it rot I thought it was a pool of blood, but Then the cameras stopped No: There's no goal There's no God Break my skull rip it off
