

Love Means Taking Action

How to Dress Well

She said I'm tired of taking your shit, I'm tired of faking
She said you owe me love that I gave, that I can't replace
She said such profound things to me
That I can't repeat
Words that won't fit neatly on a simple beat
She said love means taking action
Love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action

She said I'm tired of protecting your shit, I'm tired of faking
She said I'm tired of waking up so early and couldn't even snea k a wink, while you just While you just

Would you try to see it
If I could really show it
Just what I believe

Every word you said was hot-blooded and wouldn't fit on a simple beat

She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action

And cried in She doesn't know what she's supposed to say
And I tell her But I lost my best friend, and that sucks
And she said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
She said love means taking action
Love means taking action
Love means taking action
