

Told You Once

Howler

Well I wouldn't have it any other way
Your body's fine but your mind's not okay
I'll think about it some other day
My only wish is that you would stay

And I wish there was something I could do
Because I hate myself more than I hate you

And I told you once
And I'll tell you twice
There's nothing in this world I would sacrifice
And I can't be real
And I can't be nice
There is nothing in this world I would sacrifice

Sometimes my mind feels like an ashtray
But I'm blinded by the smoke and the grey
That's just the price you have to pay
I'll feel like shit tomorrow but I feel fine today

And I wish there was something I could do
Because I hate myself more than I hate you

And I told you once
And I'll tell you twice
There's nothing in this world I would sacrifice
And I can't be real
And I can't be nice
There is nothing in this world I would sacrifice