Bottom Of A Dream

Hugh Dillon

A little luck running by my side
I circumnavigate the alibis
It's easy, it's easy
I think of where I was when I left town
Gave up everything just to get out
Well it's easy to see that I swam to the bottom of a dream
And so I say good night tonight

Well I've hit that party and I sang that song
And I pushed that button all night long
You can keep your logic cause it's not that strong
And will you live forever or just all night long?

And when will you get enough?
It's not for me to judge
Did you disappear?
Or did you just give up

Twist and turn into the wind again
Forgetting everything that's been said
Well it's easy, it's easy
Nothing here that I need to hide
The moon is sinking but it's burning bright
And it's easy to see that I swam to the bottom of a
And so I say goodnight tonight

Well I hit that party and I sang your songs
And I pushed that button all night long
You can keep your logic cause it's not that strong
Will you live forever or just all night long?

When will you have enough?
It's not for me to judge
Did you disappear?
Or did you just give up

Well I hit that party and I sang that song
Can you reach that number, and will you stay too long
Are you going by instinct and does it feel all wrong
Well will you live forever or just all night long?
