

What You Get

Hundred Reasons

Count to ten then relax for a while
Simmer down and regain control
How you are sends shivers to spines
We sit here and hope that it passes by
And one day it will be fine

So what if you turn (your) back
If talking's a waste of our time you would leave us only the more upset
Cause that's what you get

Fall in line and remember your place
Stand up straight don't forget the time
How the trials never taught you a thing
Its meaning is lost on ears shut tight
And one day it will be fine

So what if you turn your back
If talking's a waste of our time
You would leave us only the more upset because that's what you get

I think you should know we've restored our faith
As that was the right thing to do I think you should know as that was the Right thing to do.
