

I woke up after a dream
A good morning to the end of the earth, full of lies
It will slowly sweep down, looking to the heavens
The radiance that I've grabbed onto seems to revive me

My speeding feelings
Please, guide me
Beyond the sun
Please, carry me there wings

I promised your smiling face
I took a detour to the room you're waiting in
Just barely embraced by the reaper
There is nothing in the depths of my soul
But my speeding feelings, please guide me
Beyond the sun, please
Carry me there wings
Put your trust in me just a little longer
I can get to your side...

I woke up
Won't trust anyone again
I woke up, lead me to your side

My speeding feelings
Please, guide me
Beyond the sun
Please, carry me there wings

I was stabbed in the heart, your voice is echoing
Please wings, carry me to the person who is important to me
Put your trust in me just a little longer
I can get to your side, hello