

Hold Back The Night

I Am Kloot

hold back the night
the streets are filled with laughter soon i'll be after you once again
come to my house and
say we're friends
i can't help but see
gone are the days
we tripped the light fantastic solutions more drastic
running wild
where did you go to?
my little child
i cannot help but see

fill up your days
and your pockets with plenty soon they'll be empty
once again
someone has sent me
to you, my friend
we just can't keep on running hold back the tide
and the waves of reason
guilty of treason
once again
stop all the seasons
the sun and the rain
until you stop believin'

turn on the lights
i cannot see where i'm running future keeps coming