I Set My Friends on Fire

Downwards, Encompassing, Apocrypha, Ceilings
Stealing the sustenance from my Feelings
Downwards, Encompassing, Apocrypha, Ceilings
Stealing the sustenance from my Feelings

Reality is a user-defined parameter
The Giant Sequoia fell I was there to hear it

Giving, receiving acceptance is deceiving
When it stops admitting you quit believing Nestled in emission nebula, growing in an impenetrable sphere In minutes I was a dexy whale beached on another continent Just another washup Their in awe keep doing the Capoeira

Please look away man, ignore the heads twitching out of my side Exit the doom room, it's eating from the womb
I have no place to hide Sweating like I invented the fever, the past must be created.

He said calculating in prisms begin to quickly overwhelm,
Then he grabbed me by my ankles and dragged me into another realm Begged me to stare into his crystal balls of emptiness, then realized I was scared of nothing that I couldn't miss

Your glimmer which used to blind me,
with intensity is tarnishing quickly my inquiry,
exasperated, no longer illuminated,
but unaware of my increasing insanity.

Your glimmer which used to blind me,
with intensity is tarnishing quickly my inquiry,
exasperated, no longer illuminated,
but unaware of my increasing insanity.

They kept fucking in front of me Until they turned the same shade
You don't know about the last rays of sunlight

Hurricanes made of fire stretched to the stratosphere Hyperlinks scattered on the carpet, how the fuck did I get here Let go gallantly, or however you prefer, someone else got credit for, your spirit and valor
