

Wake Up

We have run this place like animals for 200 thousand years

When will we fight for the right and not for greed!?

Lord I want to see

"A world full of love and full of peace"

But I cant even open my eyes

When will we fight for the right and not for greed!?

When will we conquer the hate that comes from our teeth!?

I will live my life accordingly

To the ones I'm willed to please

We don't even know our names

These fields with crosses

They're filled with wine

Is it me or is this picture not clear?

They have graced with their presence of naivety

You people fly like birds across the sky

In every direction not knowing why

Lord I want to see

"A world full of love and full of peace"

But I cant even open my eyes

But I still breathe, But I can still breathe
