

I never dreamed I'd meet someone like you
Or the one defeat just by the unity of you
But I like you

You see the overall of what we are
Is it a sad, sad sight viewed from afar?
Why don't you call?

Whatever made you into clump like you
The icing cold there leaks out the cracks in you
Makes us as new

Whatever made you seem so very small
Like tiny in real life but large in thought
Who's standing tall?

Cannot wait until I get my hands on you
We can do the things we said we would

You never had a true friend like I
Someone to pick you up when you needed to
Be carried through

If my hands weren't so very sharp
This broken glass that surrounds wherever we are Wouldn't do us part
Part, oh!

Whatever made you into clump like you
The fiery warmth that leaks out from most of you
Is burning through

Whatever made you seem so very small
Like tiny in real life but large in thought
Come stand up tall

Cannot wait until I get my hands on you
We can do the things we said we would

Cannot wait until I see your smiling faces
And our love will be misunderstood
