

Sorrow

IAMX

My northern heart weighs like a stone And the burning sadness has become my home
The tortured world wants Me to hate But there
'! A world inside Where my love can bury my rage

Every second I disappear I feel my senses dying In the mountain stillness I hear Hollywood coyotes crying

Sorrow, you are my light Everything my heart desires Show me your beautiful anger Sorrow, keeping me sane You turn my nights into days I love your beautiful anger

When I am tempted to give up And the winter's drowning me with memories and loss
I leave my hungry mind outside 'cause there's a beauty inside And sorrow is fueling my fire

Every time that I feel My empire beneath my feet Crumbling - Anger