The Gravy Train

Ian Brown

Way a little baby wraps the hand around your finger Sunshine on your face, in the first dawn light Way she waits to let the moment linger Way the future`s always bring surprise

It ain't cocaine running through your veins Blue caviar on the gravy train It ain't cocaine as you sip champagne As you toast high times on your Gravy Train So many vampires in the night All of the riches in this time, I know you`re mine

Waiting for the lightening so exciting after the thunder Twinkle in your eyes, the starlight shines The diamond in your mind is cut from wonder I know how your feeling and you`re feeling fine

It ain't cocaine running through your veins Blue caviar on the gravy train It ain't cocaine as you sip champagne As you toast high times on your Gravy Train So many vampires in the night All of the riches in this time, I know you`re mine

I know you`re mine And we got all the time in the world Yeah we got all the time in the world
