

Where Do I Begin

Idina Menzel

Where do I begin my love
Starting with the things I haven't said enough of Starting with the day you changed my life
And ending with the way I feel tonight
Where do I begin
Where do I belong when you're not here
This is way beyond my darkest fear
I don't know where I end or where I start
Each mile in between is way too far
Where do I begin

I've always counted all my blessings
Knowing you'd defend me
And stand by my side
If only I didn't lose my senses
Each time I intended
For these words to come out right
Where do I begin my love
Starting with the morning you brought me the sun
Starting with the stars from out of space
You took a few and lit up my face
Where do I begin

I've always counted all my blessings
Knowing you'd defend me
And stand by my side
If only I didn't lose my senses
Each time I intended
For these words to come out right
Where do I begin my love
I always read the last page instead of the first one
Well there's no need to rush it all in
I love you and I'll say it again
Where do I begin
Where do I begin
Where should we begin
