

Wouldn't That Be Something

Ilse DeLange

What if I,
Could stop the wheels from turning
Stop the time,
And unwind the clock
Read your mind
Like a listen underneed
Now wouldn't that be something
Wouldn't that be something

What if I
Paint the sky above
All in white
Like an empty book
You and I
Could be the words completely
Now wouldn't that be something
Wouldn't that be something

Just for one day in my life
Just for one day I would try
Just for one day, if it makes a difference
Just for one hour of the day
Just for minute if I may
Just for one second, if it really makes a difference
Now wouldn't that be something
Hmmm

What if I
Could be temptation calling
Hear my voice
Reaching out to you
Don't deny me
And just start falling
Now wouldn't that be something
Wouldn't that be something

Just for one day I would try
Just for one day if it makes a difference
Just for one hour of the day
Just for minute if I may
Just for one second if it really makes a difference

I can give you reasons why
This sounds so good
If you just try
Just step into our world with me
Then you will see

Just for one day in my life
Just for one day if you try
You would see the difference
Yeah

Just for one hour of the day
Just for one minute if I may
Just for one second if it really makes a difference

Just for one day in my life
Just for one day I would try
Would it really make a difference
Just for one hour of the day
Just for one minute if I may
Just for one second if it really makes a difference
Now wouldn't that be something

Hmm

Wouldn't that be something

Now wouldn't that be something...
