

Levitate

Imelda May

Thought I was over, I was at the end
Thought I was done with my heart
Then I met you and it could beat again
Each pulse a second start

You kissed my dying mouth
My blood began to warm
My life was running out
But I was hoping to be reborn

I levitate towards you
And the way that you move
I rise to the occasion of a dream come true
Don't hesitate when I do
Don't be afraid of the mood
Thought it was too late but now I levitate towards you

Thought I was dreaming, are you really mine?
You must be too good to be true
Fought all my demons then to find divine
Is ever the sweeter, mon chou

So dance me to the stars
And lend me your caress
Hold me in your heart
Then I can die of happiness

I levitate towards you
And the way that you move
I rise to the occasion of a dream come true
Don't hesitate when I do
Don't be afraid of the mood
Thought it was too late but now I levitate towards you

I levitate towards you
And the way that you move
I rise to the occasion of a dream come true
Don't hesitate when I do
Don't be afraid of the mood
Thought it was too late but now I levitate towards you

Thought it was too late but now I levitate towards you
