

Redefining Automation

In:aviate

I will scream at the sky
Do I even believe in being born again
(I will purge the insides)
Of everything I thought I knew back then
When living was everything
And death was the only thing that lasted
Now our lives are governed by the tides
Let the swells rise and wash us all away

I sold my soul for a little bit of certainty
Then I spent it all buying into your beliefs

I see a sea of chaos and you're sinking like a stone
While I'm swimming for the shore
Why send in men to do god's work are our egos the size of cathedrals

I sold my soul for a little bit of certainty
Then I spent it all buying into your beliefs

All I've come to
Know is lost and all I've come to lose I've found
All I've come to
Know is lost and all I've come to lose I've found

I sold my soul for a little bit of certainty
Then I spent it all buying into your beliefs

And I wonder
What it's worth to breathe
What it's worth to think free
Prevailing static can not possibly
Prevailing static can not possibly
Prevailing static can not possibly
Prevailing static can not possibly prevail